Just walk away, gather your thoughts
For the second wave of this argument
Of this epic changing day
It's crazy to think that an hour ago all Things were great. We stand here both Proud; both wrong and right
Throwing cheap shots in this stubborn fight
And our lives are so intertwined in one we're just so stuck in this moment
It's clear that we're coming undone.
And you see it's hard for me to breathe
When I get all worked up with these feelings
And I don't know exactly how it is
That we can be so mad
We considered not to exist
We both know there's so much
Love clenched within our fists

Goodbye waves in the driveway just resonate
And yes I'm throwing it right back at her
While we're drowning in rivers from our faces
We just want know if this, is this over
Trembling silence fills the air as we stand here
So impaired, but so aware

Sit in this house
Alone with fresh photographs
And I just can't relax
My cigarette smoke
I'm starting to choke on this
Half of my souls on the road
In a car with the girl in a dress
See it's making it hard for me to breathe
When I get all worked up with these feelings
And I don't know exactly how it is
That just to say I'm right
You're wrong, we both lose to win

The Goodbye waves in the driveway just resonate
And yes I'm throwing it right back at her
While we're drowning in rivers from our faces

We just want know if this, is this over
Trembling silence fills the air as we stand here, Oooh

So hey now, maybe we're just being stupid
Hey, maybe we're just being dumb
No, hey, maybe it's time that we stopped
And we realize that,
Flag in the wind, we are one
And how at first it makes so cute and lovely
The battle can be tore to shreads
With time and patience, and love and affection
We can beat this with needles and thread
Because I love you! And you love me
And nothing will make this leave
I said, I love you, and you love me
And nothing will make, make, make, make this leave
So remember me, Yeah... remember me. Yeah.
Remember me

Don't Walk Away
