its been two whole years since you and i shared fears two-thirty AM talking till sleep inside that diner and now in your eyes i can't find you sorry that i'm taken aback but how i am you never ask and i don't need such sympathy but a care would be so nice to have once in awhile you mean more to me than i could ever

tell
so sorry that i'm taken aback but i just can't help it small town we just ride holding on to what we had inside but now its never there so should i admit do i believe i too am the culprit because in your eyes i can't find you

and i don't need such sympathy but a care would be so
tell

someday this will go away and everything i am will just leave and fade and i hope then you will understand its not everything i am my dear only friend so sorry that i'm taken aback but how i am you never ask

and i don't need such sympathy but a care would be so
tell
