Is this the best that, that you can do,
She said under her breath, then she walked away.

I miss the thing's that she never really did But to me those were the best times even if they weren't mine.
I'm learning thing's I never knew about you.

If there were anything I could do to make this up to you,
Take my hand never let you fall, let you fall again.
If there were anything I could say to bring you back this way
Making promises to break fix the mess that i have made.

And now there's, there's something i wish that I could tell you
But now I'm losing my grip and i am falling for you.
For now lets take this slow, oh i can let you go.

If there were anything i could do to make this up to you
Take my hand never let you fall, let you fall again.
If there were anything i could say to bring you back this way
Making promises to break fix the mess that i have made.

I wonder why our lies because the one thing that she shared,
I wondered why our lies became the one thing that we shared.

I wish that i could see you.

I wonder why our lies because the one thing that she shared,
I wondered why our lies became the one thing that we shared.

If there were anything I could do to make this up to you
Take my hand never let you fall, let you fall again.

If there were anything I could say to bring you back this way
Making promises to break fix the mess that i have made.

If there were anything I could do to make this up to you
Take my hand never let you fall, let you fall again.
If there were anything i could say to bring you back this way
Making promises to break fix the mess that I have made.
