Learn through silver, its cold to touch wire and springs arent much for recollection heart is scheduled and predictable, but ive figured it out though its microscopic.
So catch me so catch me if i fall into the ground So catch me now Endless knowledge though emotionless conversation fails i know youre in there luminescence reflects my words but its neverending gazing up ingest the sunlight, and its gone But where'd it go?
You can smile now no ones looking they wont believe you had i can see through the hard shell a soft interior, you hide well and now its gone again not complex circuitry its what you cant see thats more recieving now dont catch me dont catch me when i fall into the ground dont catch me now
gazing up
ingest the sunlight, and its here its everlasting Hold still They'll believe you
I know they will
