Two can be complete without the rest of the world
Two can be complete without the rest of the world
Do it for the people that have died for your sake
An entire generation that has nothing to say.
How'd you make your way to me?
Let's say you made a deal with me and I got your name and your home adress
You're all trashed up with your big red belt
I would almost say that you might need help
I could drop you off at the next red light
If it don't make sense or don't feel right
All the girls could never make me love them the way i love you

Can't you see the sky is not the limit no more?
I can see the elevator crash through the floor
I can still see yesterday sailing away
Seven billion people who have nothing to say
Are you coming on to me?
I saw your face then I heard that song
It was so inviting it hurt my bones
Well it looks like you but your eyes are gray
And you hair is gone but your minds O.K.
I like your smile but your foreheads cold
I don't want you to be afraid and go
I would cheat and lie and steal
Now I'll stay at home and kneel for you

I was waiting for my baby to arrive, right by my side
Oh please leave me alone tonight...
Forget the past.

Two can be complete without the rest of the world
Oh you know I said it just to get you to laugh
Do it for the people who have died for you sake
And entire generation of entertainers to blame
The light is red, the camera's on
Get yourself a lawyer and a gun
Hate your friends new friends like everyone Chidhood's end can be so competative
Oh the sky's not the limit and your never gonna guess what is...oh
