You better, you better, you better

You better go

And think about the things that you do

You better, you better, you better

You better know

That you can't treat a girl like you do

I may not be your first class lover don't treat me like a fool

I may not be your problem anymore

But did you not realise you were cruel

To have me wait at the door like a fool

I'd rather you'd have lied

So I could keep my pride and hold my head up high

In this old world.

I may not be your angel anymore.

But the fingers on the clock on the wall ain't moving,

So how am I supposed to move on

When the fingers on the clock on the wall ain't moving, on.

You better go now.

You better go now.

You better go now.

You better go now.

You better go.
