Shana I've been waiting so long for you
And no one will ever tell us what to do
A moment here and then it slips away
Forever is still as long as yesterday
Wasted words to make them see
Why they turn their backs on me
Living in a world made for you and me
We're living in this world can't they just let us be Shana I see heaven in your eyes
And heaven is something they can't criticize
This world will never change so what's the use
Shana we can't be wrong if we know the truth
You're the only thing I need
To fill the emptiness in me
Shana take my hand
Shana take my hand
