Beware the stars are cursing every step you take from me

And I'm scared but I'm convinced
That I was made to face what you never did
To move along I won't be back until I'm done

If you can't find love above an ending burning ocean
Then I can't be a part of your life
I'm going to swim against your waves

The time it took to see the end was blinding this time
So I saw through the eyes of a man dying and wise
Move along, this life is leaving you behind

If you can't find love above an ending burning ocean
Then I can't be a part of your life
I'm going to swim against your waves

I am not your enemy
But things can change so suddenly these days, these days
Beware, beware

If you can't find love above an ending burning ocean
Then I can't be a part of your life
I'm going to swim against your waves

If you can't find love
If you can't find love
