Side by side, driving the same highway
Leaving behind everything and everyone you love.
The cost to pay, to tell the world of Jesus.
Hoping that these bridges burned will not be just in vain.

It helps to think that somewhere you're feeling just the same.
And don't take even a moment for granted.
Don't lose your heart when the world crashes down.

(Refrain)
How many miles ahead? I can't count the ones behind.
To all the friend that we've collected, all the people we respect.
For the hope and joy that comes with you.
We made this up and wrote it down and dedicate this song to you.

No turning back, and can't say that I regret it
When every day, God's promises testify themselves.
Sometimes it's hard and the road keeps stretching longer.
Tonight my wife's a longing voice on a Holiday Inn
phone.

How many miles ahead? I can't count the ones behind.
I wish you God's speed, friend. You're always on my mind.
Will you remember me, say seven years from now?
And where will we be then? Well, I'm here for you now
