Graham Russell)

I don't need money and possessions

I don't need things to weight me down

I don't need to be under suspicion

For all the things that never come around

All I need is you and your affection

To be a part of everything you do

To break through a lost communication

To let me know that everything is true

CHORUS

Put love in your life, find it today and hold me tonight

You know there will always be me

There will always be you

Put love in your life, open your heart, it won't be denied

The one you thought could not be

Is waiting for you

I don't need anxiety to hold me

In the name of something to embrace

I don't need society to scald me

To pin me down and slap me in the face

All I need is you and your affection

To be the judge and jury in my life

Searching for that moment of perfection

To let me know we surely are alive

CHORUS

The puzzled look, the years of doubt

It all was meant to be

We can't escape the dreams we make

This feeling now just cannot wait

So share it with me
