

Womack Lee Ann"A Little Past Little Rock with Jason Sellers"

Visit "A Little Past Little Rock with Jason Sellers" on MotoLyrics.com

Jess Brown/Tony Lane/Brett Jones)

(Track 2 - Time 4:16)

I had to leave my life in Dallas

That town will always be you

In every crowd on every corner

In every face I'd see you

So with nothin' more than a tank of gas

I drove away without lookin' back

And I guess that's how I got where I am

Goin' anywhere as fast as I can

And I'm a little past Little Rock

Further down the line

Too soon to know what's up ahead

Too late to change my mind

I gotta keep my heart out of this and both hands on the wheel

I'm learnin' more with every mile just how leavin' feels

It's a lonely stretch of blacktop out into the blue

Don't know where I'll go or what I'll do

I'm a little past Little Rock

But a long way from over you

These headlights on the highway
Disappear into the dark
And if I could have my way
I'd go back to where you are
Oh but I can't turn this thing around
And nothing short of breaking down
Is gonna get me off this road I'm on Oh and I'm still a far cry from gone
And I'm a little past Little Rock
Further down the line
Too soon to know what's up ahead
Too late to change my mind
I gotta keep my heart out of this and both hands on the
wheel
I'm learnin' more with every mile just how leavin' feels
It's a lonely stretch of blacktop out into the blue
Don't know where I'll go or what I'll do
I'm a little past Little Rock
But a long way from over you
I'm a little past Little Rock
But a long way from over you

Visit Womack Lee Ann page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.