Mark D. Sanders, Ed Hill

I anit lookin' for a smart guy school guy

Some pround in-crowd decked-out necktie

I need a man who could tame a wild mustang

Knows the difference 'tween love and lust thang

Somebody who looks a whole lot like you

Buckaroo

Anit interested in a yes 'mam yes man

I'll pass on the politically correct man

I'm set on fencin' in a desperado

Takes my breath away like Colorado

Who aint afraid to walk a mile in my boots

Buckaroo

Heaven knows what I might do

If I had a cowboy like you

Buckaroo

Don't have to wow me like a long beard Shakespeare

Just talk plain talk right here in my ear

If you aspire to sophistication

I'll tell you now you're in the wrong location

Get out of here before this country girl gets to you

But, if you like sunset on the painted desert

The Lone Ranger and spaghetti westerns

I'll tell you right now I'm the one for you

Buckaroo
