(Julie Miller)

Come all you broken hearted, come and lay your burden down
Come kings and queens, come royalty surrender up your crown
Come empty-handed come with nothing of your own to claim
Come naked, poor, come like a child to ride the orphan train

Chorus: Come ride, ride on the orphan train Put your ear to the track, you can hear your name Come ride, ride on the orphan train, it'll take you all the way home
The way is narrow, it is steep that brings you to the door
But love awaits there to embrace your heart forevermore
(Repeat Chorus)

Come you abandoned, you forsaken Friendless and alone, come refugees left homesick for Some place you've never known Here princes, paupers, criminals and saints are all the same
No more or less than God's beloved child aboard this
train

(Repeat Chorus twice)

It'll take you all the way home
It's gonna take you all the way home
