Things around here haven't changed much

Its all pretty much the same stuff day after day

The only thing that keeps me goin'

Seems to be our baby girl I'm trying to raise

Shes my life my morning angel

Always seems to find the rainbow after the rain

Lately she's so busy growin'

I don't even think she knows you've gone away

Chorus:

She finally learned to say goodbye

She's sleepin' through the night

She don't wake up cryin'

And she's walking on her own

She don't need no one holdin' to her hand

And I hate to admit she's stronger than I am

She ain't crackin' under pressure

First one step and then another she goes along

If she falls and skins her knee

She cries awhile and smiles at me and just goes on

So many things she can teach me

Full of life and so completely innocent

She still says she loves her daddy

Goes on just like nothin' happened

Forgives and forgets

Repeat Chorus

She's just like her old man

Stronger than I am
