Starin' out the window at the sinkin' sun

Another painful day is done

If I could convince myself I was over you now

I'd find a way to go on somehow

Chorus:

But the pain just grows stronger every day

I think of you and i'm on my way

Down memory lane with your hand in mine guess i'm just not the healing kind

Another December and the cold winds blow

And nights without you are so long

I stare at our picture through the firelight's glow

And where you are right now I just dont know

Chorus
