All I need
Is water and headphones
Those things are my staples
What I live and breathe

Life is just
So much more sensible
Measured in decibels
There's nothing to see

What you might call solitude
Is something I look forward to

You're lucky I have
This outlet of mine
Keeping me sane
'Cause after the fight
I really thought about killing you
I really thought about killing you

All I need
Is water and headphones
I'm being as literal
As I can be

That means you
Fall under optional
Another obstacle
In front of me

Today I'll buy something new What's left to listen to?

You're lucky I have
This outlet of mine
Keeping me sane
'Cause after the fight
I really thought about killing you
I really thought about killing you
