You think I'm against your revolution
You think I don't understand you, right?
You think the world's unfair and nasty and you
You think I don't wanna try to understand.

But I don't wanna think about My house being too small Cause I wanna see in the distance
Watched my boots for far too long.

And I don't wanna care 'bout my headache
I don't care 'bout bad moods
Oh please oh my mother see
I don't wanna care 'bout dirty shoes

Refrain:
When all you can see are just your feet and
All you can do is to complain
And all you can need is just the best
And all you can live for

It's just a lie, just a lie
It's just a lie, just a lie
It's just a lie, just a lie
It's just a lie, just a lie

Do you really think when you stamp your feet it's a revolution
'n do you really think that I'm not able to understand
'n do you really think the world's discriminated against you
But if you really were I think you wouldn't think about this crap

Have you seen the children's eyes full of grief and tears
And have you seen that their smiling faces are small but so brave
And have you herd the woman's scream while they were loosin'their face
And have you seen the men workin'hard on their never ending day.

Refrain (2x)

It's just a lie, just a lie
It's just a lie, just a lie

'n I think you don't wanna cry on my shoulder
Don't you see you leave me standin' in the rain
'n I think you shouldn't treat me like a child, Ma
Don't you see you're the little child more than me

But what's the truth oh what's truth God
Am I working for the truth
Oh I need I need I need your truth God

But what's the truth oh what's truth God
Am I working for the truth
Oh I need I need I need your truth God

Refrain (2x)

It's just a lie, just a lie
It's just a lie, just a lie

But today you're breakin' me
I can't stand it anymore
Too far too far too far
