I watched the world unwind
And right before my eyes was your familiar face you kept walkin' on by I know there's no time to waste but you won't listen to me Cause' you think this is one big game; It's just a little more of the same

Just the same old song with a different melody; This world can't fool me no

Cause' every single day
I keep searching for the answers to all the questions we have made
Let's just waste another day;
We keep waiting for the world to end and reminisce on the better days

Let's leave this world behind; No one will ever know Everybody is waiting for a place to call home But I guess I'll go on my own, this town is history and I had to learn to live alone just to keep my sanity

Singing the same old song, in a different key; Oh this world can't fool me no

I keep searching for the answers to all the questions we
have made
Let's just waste another day;
We keep waiting for the world to end and reminisce on
the better days

10 years from now who knows what they'll say so let's just waste away

Cause' every single day
I keep searching for the answers to all the questions we
have made
Let's just waste another day;
We keep waiting for the world to end and reminisce on

the better days
