I am such a beggar now
I sleep out under my own bridge
If my wealth's in what I give away
Then he's a wealthy man today
I dance in rags of sheerest shear
Out of the edge
Of "You're not here"

Oh precious heart, you think you're lost
Look down, look down and find your feet
The next step is the path you're on
Just don't confuse the light and heat

I though that I had loved my last
But the strangest one was coming round
Midst of all this brokenness
My own two knees fell in love with the ground
It's hard to keep up appearances
When dealing with such experiences

Oh precious heart, you think you're lost
Look down, look down and find your feet
The next step is the path you're on
Just don't confuse the light and heat
Oh precious heart, you think you're lost
Look down, look down and find your feet
The next step is the path you're on
Just don't confuse the light and
Heat

Heat

How can you be my destiny
When you've been here from the start
How can be my ending
When you're already in my heart
Are you the many or the one
Will I know before I'm done

Oh precious heart, you think you're lost
Look down, look down and find your feet

The next step is the path you're on
Just don't confuse the light and heat
Oh precious heart, you think you're lost
Look down, look down and find your feet
The next step is the path you're on
Just don't confuse the light and
Heat
The next step is the path you're on
Just don't confuse the light and
Heat
