pull me close enough so i can feel your breath and exactly what you mean leave off the lights it's my time let them disappear we don't need to be seen for tonight i'll believe in touch comes light with us between

(chorus)
between
so let your hair down right for me and follow what i say tell me how i'm the only one that you live and breathe to see because i can't bear to think of those who might of been here before feeling the same for you

(chorus)

love doesn't care for us at all, how could it when it hardly knows us it creeps on prayers for cleaner hands and hates to even see us asleep once again / unnoticed how time has past but in a little while i can make the room go dark and all this loneliness would mean nothing at all it had nowhere to go

no one to see / no one to meet / nowhere to go

(chorus)
