"Why"

creatures of ambition we're here to conquer all men of our own making who are free to take a fall confounded by our wisdom to the point of no return we're teaching all the lessons we ourselves have never learned a little bit lower than the angels is the best we'll ever do unless we are discovered by the one who holds the truth

so why would you wait to be forgiven, free from your mistakes this is your moment to stand and be amazed so why, why would you wait you can read it in the bible like it's written on the wall time is quickly passing and we know it won't be long till we stand before our maker and we speak on how we've lived and all he has created will be standing by to hear crying out for mercy will be all we can do unless we've been discovered by

you can go back to the day of your innocence now is the time to bow to omnipotence
