

Wussy "Jonah"

Sometimes I like to think about the stars that cover you.
How they burn out one by one until another day is through.
You came by when I was sleeping
to unveil your newest plan.
We could get to know each other
in the back seat of your van tonight.

Chorus:

Angels sing around you
in a chorus all night long,
and you transcribe their expressions
in the morning with a song about it.
A little swallowed hole and spat back up on solid ground.
I'm the Jonah at the party
and you're nowhere to be found.
So it's you and me St. Patrick's day
and our unlikely plan.
We could get to know each other
in the backseat of your van tonight.
