I got a sharp stick, i keep in my pocket.
I speak volumes never utter a word.
When you strike a match a fire will happen.
But the line between the smoke and the flames get blurred.

Don't you see the writing on the wall.(the writing on the wall.)
You're in way over your head.
You're gonna drown in the things that you've said.

Time has come and gone for words.
A thousand threats i've heard before.
But words are cheap, but lies are big to take.
Time has come and gone for words.
A thousand threats i've heard before and all your words are too big to take.

It's a paradox, a mystery, a riddle.
A door in your face and only i have the key.
Do you understand.
You'll be caught in the middle,
caught in a web by being spun by me.

Don't you see the writing on the wall.(the writing on the wall.)
Just a victim of your own conceit.
The architect of your own defeat.

Time has come and gone for words.
A thousand threats i've heard before.
But words are cheap, but lies are big to take.
Time has come and gone for words.
A thousand threats i've heard before and all your words are too big to take.

Never walk away from a fight thats worth fighting.
Never hesitate when you know you're gonna act.
Never waste your words on a fool who won't listen.
Never sell your soul cause your never buy it.....back.

INSTRUMENTAL

Time has come and gone for words.
A thousand threats i've heard before.
But words are cheap, but lies are big to take.
Time has come and gone for words.
A thousand threats i've heard before and all your words are too big to take.....(x4)
