Cause hell will be callin' your name

Listen, there's a storm in the distance. You better take cover now.

Coming too fast. Hang up and call your mother now
Dark clouds. An ominous mass
You pray it might pass but no, its gonna last

The lighting strikes and the ground is on fire
And the light you know is about to expire
No time for breath but a good time for running
Never ever look back cause hell keeps on coming

Cause there's a hell in the sky
And all you sinners will die
And its gonna blow you away
Its gonna be judgment day
And know that fear will be rising
And you know that pressure keeps falling
And it's too late to run now
Cause hell will be callin' your name

This is how it's going down

Your bitter head on the ground like a little rat hiding
You're in the wrong place, wrong time, and wrong side
Go ahead, hide but they're coming to find you
Remind you that your time's due and its through
Cause there ain't no mistake in this kind of danger
Don't bother running cause it's way too late
The clouds are impatient. They're bringing the anger
So get ready. The storm is recognizing your name

Cause there's a hell in the sky [hell in the sky]
Sinners will die (sinners gonna die)
Blow you away (blow you away)
Be judgment day (Its gonna be judgment day)
Fear will be rising (rising right here)
Pressure keeps falling (and going down now)
Too late to run now
Cause hell will be callin' your name

Gonna put on a show tonight
Never ever let it go tonight

Cause there's a hell in the sky [hell in the sky]
Sinners will die (lighting and thunder)
Blow you away
Be judgment day
Fear will be rising (rising up)
Pressure keeps falling (and going down)
Too late to run now (its too late to run)
Cause hell will be callin' your name
