Love that's worth fighting for
That's what this is
And how, how could I want more
Than the warmth of your kiss

No matter how many miles and dreams
Come between us now
In each step I take, with each prayer I make
This love will live somehow

Let the mountains rise, I will climb them all
When my body's weak, I will not fall
Baby, come what may, I'll find a way to get through
There's nothing that I won't do to be loved by you

There will be lonely nights
When you'll whisper my name
I know on those lonely nights
I'll be doing the same

Should every star in the sky go out
Just keep your faith alive
We were meant to be, this is destiny
And it cannot be denied

Let the mountains rise, I will climb them all
When my body's weak, I will not fall
Baby, come what may, I'll find a way to get through
There's nothing that I won't do to be loved by you

And even when we're worlds apart
Just keep this promise in your heart

Let the mountains rise, I will climb them all
When my body's weak, I will not fall
Baby, come what may, I'll find a way to get through
There's nothing that I won't do, nothing that I won't do
There's nothing that I won't do, nothing that I won't do
There's nothing that I won't do to be loved by you

To be loved, to be loved, to be loved by you
To be loved, to be loved, to be loved by you

To be loved by you
