Black is drawing in
The air is getting thin
I'm fighting with myself
I always take one on the chin
What I have is all I asked for
I never wanted more
Till I fear I'm in this dark room
And I can't find the door

When you look to the sky, see the warning come up at night
Is it a sign, that heaven's near, or that hell's already here

And out of the darkness dawn is breaking
(A light will shine)
Even through the black, a light will shine
(A light will shine)
Brought me to my knees and left me aching
(A light will shine)
Thank you for the hand you offered mine
But only God can save me

In my own air I drown
My knees are on the ground
Diggin' my own hole and I'm already 3 feet down
To wear the ice upon my head (?)
Mistaken hell was underneath
Body weight is bound to gravitate, lets our soul go free

When you look to the sky, see the warning come up at
night

And out of the darkness dawn is breaking
(A light will shine)
Even through the black, a light will shine
(A light will shine)
Brought me to my knees and left me aching
(A light will shine)

Thank you for the hand you offered mine
But only God can save me

When you look to the sky, see the warning come up at
night
Is it a sign, that heaven's near, or that hell's already

When you look to the sky, see the warning come up at
night
Is it a sign, that heaven's near, or that hell's already

And out of the darkness dawn is breaking
(A light will shine)
Even through the black, a light will shine
(A light will shine)
Brought me to my knees and left me aching
(A light will shine)
Thank you for the hand you offered mine
But only God can save me
(A light will shine)
Only God can save me
(A light will shine)
Only God can save me
