"Alright Tonight"

Sometimes the past looms large
And you don't think you can take charge
Of anything, let alone you life

Sometimes the future's scary
You tremble like a small canary and
Put your heart on ice

And take a walk down dismal side streets

Wonderin' why you fell incomplete

But everything is gonna be alright tonight
Everything is gonna be alright tonight

No promises, no cold goodbyes, no distant longing
No wailing wall, no firing line, no waiting wondering

Kick your feet up on the railing
Don't worry 'out what you call failing
