

Xanthe Littlemore

"Minute In My Mind"

Visit "Minute In My Mind" on MotoLyrics.com

Thinking about the time we spent
Makes me think of how much I miss you
We'll cover it up in consequence
Just a cruel joke that fate knew
So will the powers that be execute me
With a cinder block to my face
That would make me god damn sense
Then waiting for you another day

And if time heals every single wound
Whys the scar still here from missing you
And if time heals every single wound
Whys the scar still here from missing you

Wonder about the time we spent
And where it all went down too
Making time and draw the line
And maybe I just hate you
So will the powers that be execute me
With a cinder block to my face
That would make me god damn sense
Then waiting for you another day

And if time heals every single wound
Whys the scar still here from missing you
And if time heals every single wound
Whys the scar still here from missing you

TIME WILL HEAL!

Visit Xanthe Littlemore page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.