"Creating a Dream"

Imagine every where was free to roam Imagine if the trees could tell us where to go Imagine that the sun could fill each lonely heart imagine confrontation never got a start imagine things will were always crystal clear imagine if the mind never interfered imagine we could fly with broken wings imagine if the heart could shed it's skin please patience please patience please I'm

creating a dream
creating a dream
Imagine sacred sights were left to be Imagine if true activists controlled tv Imagine captain watson had the final say Imagine if industry just had to obey
creating a dream
creating a dream
