Only signs could make us understand What was right and what was not calculating all figures to eternity Number fade into a mental open sea

You worry much to get where you are It's a pointless journey towards the falling stars
Time is a toy not to play around
We dive into the open closing space

Chorus

Don't count the days when they never stay
Summer begins for winter to end
Don't be so wrong to wait and waste
Grab another part but don't stay the same

Closing doors and crashing tears
Don't make your mood so up a beat Come to with what you get You'll get the rest when you pass this test someday soon you'll realize you'll criticize this compromise you won't feel small you won't feel big
The only thing is you won't regret

Chorus

Don't count the days when they never stay
Summer begins for winter to end
Don't be so wrong to wait and waste
Grab another part but don't stay the same

Some other time you won't feel as sane and you'd want to play but u can't play again you see the colours mix to blue from grey and you want to see a change a real change

Chorus

Don't count the days when they never stay
Summer begins for winter to end
Don't be so wrong to wait and waste
Grab another part but don't stay the same
