I once believed your words were heartfelt and true
And what you said about our chances were true
But all the promises you made in the dark
You kept the one where I was fooled from the start

Now I'm not young enough for love anymore
And I'm not old enough to shake what I saw

Jennie my friend I won't let it happen again
I just lost my way when I saw you with him
The falling stars will come back in fashion again
The nights when you were happening
I'd go out to play

I waste my time on false alarms any more
The sight is clear and I stay close to the door

The treason has faded
If not forgotten

Jennie my friend I won't let it happen again
I just lost my way when I saw you with him
The falling stars will come back in fashion again
The nights when you were happening
I'd go out to play
