I'm tired of closing my eyes to picture you in my mind

It feels so cold to be alone

Not sure where I want to be, so close to finding my dream

We need to hold on to all the times we spoke of love

Now I pray to God above that someday I can find the door

I'm looking for

I can make it I know I can

I can save this love forever

I can make it I know I can

We can make this work together

It's not a lonely man's dream, it's just that now that there's been

A taste of love in my life

That I refuse to return, I've got so much still to learn

How can I feel as though I've reached the top of this steep hill

For a moment I was standing still

Now I have the faith I've needed to believe

'Cause you know what this love means to me

You know how it feels when I can see it in your face

That you're missing me now, you feel I've let you down

You've gotta hold on, you've gotta reach out and believe

I an make this world a better place for me and you

We can make it, we can make it together
