Ain't no use in goin' home
Jody's got your girl and gone!

There's a bowl on the kitchen table
I've never put away
Your blue shirt with the coffee stain
Still hangs where it will stay

I know they sing that silly song,
About all he destroys
But the girl you left behind is strong
So just ignore the noise

I never knew Jody
And I know I never will
The fire we lit together
Is burning brighter still

Hang it up and soak your head
Jody's sleepin' in your bed!

And it may be years til you come home
Perhaps much longer yet
No matter what you hear out there
I'm waiting, don't forget.

I can't shut off their silly song,
I'm not there with your boys
But I don't do ~dear johns, love, they're wrong
So just ignore the noise

I never knew Jody
And I know I never will
The song we sang together
I'm singing louder still
