What can I say,
it's been so long.
Nothing to say
in so long.

Can you show me how to waiver
this science fiction curse

Tonight I keep looking at the sky we used to talk about.
Silence is broken in pieces; I swear it was real,
I heard you say my name.
I wasn't sure,
I was half awake,
I was half asleep.

You've shown me how to love.
Please, will you show me how to take it all back.

Can you show me how to waiver
this science fiction curse.
A moment of tragedy comes when I open up my eyes.

Where is my "one true love?"
Where is the promise we spoke of
When does "forever" mean "to walk away?"

Where are you?
