She stands on the corner in her high-heeled shoes Dragging on a cigarette Nothing much to do She looks like an actress from a Hollywood picture show The face of an angel But you would never know She's a lonely woman waiting in the night Waiting for someone to treat her right She's waiting for someone to take her home tonight But what she really needs is someone to change her life She's a lonely woman waiting in the night Waiting for someone to treat her right She's out for the evening aching with desire Searching for a romance Needing to get hired She's a lonely woman waiting in the night Waiting for someone to treat her right
