Every living day I wake up
Thinking it was a bad dream
But you're still present in my head
Screaming things I don't want to hear
You really think I'm gonna look down
My own exhaustion
All that rage, all that hate can only be devastating

You will count with me from now on Every word you say makes me stronger
I will rise up hard as a rock
You will count with me from now on

All that blood will never be in vain
If you don't wanna be with me
You have to disappear
If you don't wanna follow me
You have to disappear
Every living day you plague me
Perverting my every thoughts
To turn tail ain't a solution
Twin brothers facing will take place
You really think you will stare me out
My own exhaustion
All that rage, all that hate can only be devastating

There is no place for both of us here below
I'm gonna stand up in front you axe in my hand And I'm gonna cut my truth in your lies
Never to see you in my eyes again
Henceforward these tears ain't more mine anymore
Light is more intense and warm at the end of this dismal corridor

Look!! It's hard to suffer a setback
A bitter taste remains
