

Saving Pointe, The "Tired Eyes To Sunrise"

Visit "Tired Eyes To Sunrise" on MotoLyrics.com

If life is a game, I'll play it for keeps
I know how to stand on my own two feet
The name is the same, the story has changed
I know how to find what's underneath

It's taken this long to find
People don't change, they hide
It's taken this long to see
Who I have come to be

Feel like it's been forever
Since I've known how to be okay
But suddenly I remember
What it takes to keep me safe
I remember how to cope with things
And live dangerously
And how to leave things in the past
I know that it's not about what happened anymore
It's that I never look back.

Ever since that warm summer night
When your brake lights failed
You drifted into the sunlight
I told myself that I needed to be brave

Wasn't ready to be man of the house
But I wouldn't let down
The family that needed me
As much as I need them.

Feel like it's been forever
Since I've known how to be okay
But suddenly I remember
What it takes to keep me safe
I remember how to cope with things
And live dangerously
And how to leave things in the past
I know that it's not about what happened anymore
It's that I never look back.

And I'm so

So happy you're not around
Because without you holding me back, my feet have yet to touch the ground

And I'm so
So happy you decided to leave
Because the mess you left
Was getting to be a bit much for me to clean

Feel like it's been forever
Since I've known how to be okay
Suddenly I remember
What it takes to keep me safe
I remember how to cope with things
And live dangerously
And how to leave things in the past
I know that it's not about what happened anymore
It's that I never look back.

I know that it's not about what happened anymore
It's that I never look back.

Visit Saving Pointe, The page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.