I'm flying far away to be really free
Tired hard to build myself independantly
Ut's hard to always do what you expect from me
Saying come home
Come home

I try to understand why it hurts you
To see a difference in our points of view Don't blame me for a thing that i didn't do
saying come home
Come home

It's insane
How feeling so much shame Will only bring you pain
And i no longer know how to explain
See i'm happy as can be
And you're my family, my ground
And i'm just hoping one day I will find you

You're holding back the tears when you kiss me
Smile smile when i'm back again as you see me
When yeras are passing by and you misse me
You're saying come home

Come home

Such a shame
You're feeling so much blame And yet i'm still the same
And i no longer know how to explian
See i'm grateful as can be 'Cause your my family, i'm bound
And i'm just hoping one day you will shine trough

Let's try to look at each other
Find one other
Asking how can it be fighting out all that we see
Is just not always what is real

That you come home
Come home
Just come home

Come home
My turn to understand what you lived through Today i only feel how i miss you so it's only fare, when it's hard to bare and you ask if i, i try to come home
Come home
