Princess

You've got to play your faith for hours

Locked inside the tallest tower

Where you stay

Princess

You wear a crown that's made of flowers

Waiting for someone to save you

Each and every single day

I took a chance

And I'll try my best to blow it

To make amends

When it's way too late to fix this

Take a breath of the heavy air

And try my best to just pretend there's no one there

It doesn't matter and I'm trying not to miss you

I'm busy looking for another place to run to

And rock bottom isn't very far

Cause all they are are broken dreams and shattered
hearts

Princess

You're beautiful

You know you are

As legends say it from afar

So come over to your window

And you'll see me standing on the ground below

Waiting for

A chance to ride away so we can

Take all of this in our past

And put it all behind our backs and go

I took a chance

And I'll try my best to blow it

To make amends

When it's way too late to fix this

Take a breath of the heavy air

And try my best to just pretend there's no one there

It doesn't matter and I'm trying not to miss you

I'm busy looking for another place to run to

And rock bottom isn't very far

Cause all they are are broken dreams and shattered
hearts

I took a chance
And I'll try my best to blow it
To make amends
When it's way too late to fix this
Take a breath of the heavy air
And try my best to just pretend there's no one there
It doesn't matter and I'm trying not to miss you
I'm busy looking for another place to run to
And rock bottom isn't very far
Cause all they are are broken dreams and shattered
hearts
