THE KISS OF SUMMER

Words and music: Leigh Haggerwood

Listen to the sway of the trees; the delicate whisper of summer

Little children play by the sea building castles in the sand.

Look at all the people holding hands - you can tell that they love one another,

There's not a single cloud in the sky as the summer fills the land.

Ooh the sun is rising Ooh over you and me

And I wanna wander free - like a butterfly floating on the breeze,

In the summertime when the leaves are green and the world is in my hands

I wanna live my life like a wild horse racing through the sky,

In the summertime when the days are bright and the kiss of summer lasts all night..

Look at all the flowers in bloom - all the golden lakes and rivers among us,

And all the birds singing their tune as they serenade the sun.

Because it's real, were living in a world of such wonderful colours,

And everything's ok 'cause we are one

Ooh so please don't steal my thunder Ooh I've only just begun.

'Cause I wanna wander free - like a butterfly floating on
the breeze,

In the summertime when the leaves are green and the world is in my hands

I wanna live my life like a wild horse racing through the
sky,

In the summertime when the days are bright and the
kiss of summer lasts all night..

Sail through blue skies,
Sunset, sunrise,
Born free - live wild,
Ooh sweet child.
