One night I walked alone
Trough the mist of the mighty forest
Feeling so cold
I could hardly breathe

The moon had ceased to shine
And the stars had lost their sparkle
A lustful creature beckoned me on
And I know why I fear the darkness

The empress of the world
Emerged from the placid waters
O' such a beauty
With open arms she whispered my name
Come, now don't be afraid
Fulfill your heart's desire
Come, take my hand
Embrace me with all desire

The moon had ceased to shine
And the stars had lost their sparkle
A lustful creature beckoned me on
And I know why I fear the darkness

Alone I embraced the cold within my self
This cold and lonely hell
Forever my soul condemned
This night I embraced life's end
