If all the luck in this life has all run
If all my faith is undone I had none
To track them down and take them back
Where they belong
Could that explain why I'm here
Is that the reason why I came
And why I feel this way
I feel
I feel
I feel I came apart here
Stole a look away from your eyes
Stole a look and finally paid your price
Tear that fresh trampled thorn
Look for me
Look at this face
Everywhere there's new mistakes
And underneath it all takes it toll
Grudging me
But with you in here everything seems ok

If every moment could have you in it
I'd know where all my faith had gone
If any moment should take you away
I know I'll always have this one
If every moment could have you in it
I'd know where all my faith had gone
If any moment should take you away
I know I'll always have this one
This one
This one
This one
If any moment, ever stolen
Don't take this one
As my heart runs empty now I realize
What I want would never surface otherwise
I hope your heart runs empty and you realize
Hold on to this hope hold on to this hope Hold on to all my hope and my faith cause I don't want to leave from your life because I want to see but nothing is faded but nothing could change it but nothing is faded

but nothing could change it
If any moment
