"Silence Lost"

How do you say goodbye
To someone you don't know?
Never got to show
I don't know, can you tell me?
You take a life in your hands
Every time you wake
There's not a single break
Each step a new mistake
If I fall, will you catch me?
I can't get away from this feeling
That I've done something wrong
I've had to go back
And I never thought it'd come to that
Take the risk and pay the cost
Search my head and try to find
There's no simple way
I know I've lost not gained, can't cry
So don't show me
Still don't know how to say goodbye
To someone I'll never know
This fire inside me grows
Will I ever know?
I can't get away from this feeling
Maybe I've done something wrong
I've had to go back
And I never thought it'd come to that
Was the risk worth the loss?
Don't stand for nothing
Don't believe a word they say
I see tomorrow
In the faces of today
I wish this was a dream
And not reality but it's too late
I can see that it's too late
I can't get away from this feeling
Maybe I've done something wrong
I've had to go back
And I never thought it'd come to that
With a single word, the silence lost
I've had to go back
And I never thought it'd come to that

I've had to go back
And I never thought it
Should've seen it coming
I've had to go back
And I never thought it'd come to that
With a strangled cry, the silence lost
