Looking through the timber for you,
sitting on this wave.
Then your light shines through,
to show me the way.

You're my beacon, my light,
the stars that shine at night.
It's what you do best.
You know I can't stay,
stranded on this wave,
or your heart wouldn't find rest.

And my wood was cracking,
my ship was sinking,
but thanks to you,
I'll find my way home.

You're my beacon, my light,
the stars that shine at night.
It's what you do best.
You know I can't stay,
stranded on this wave,
or your heart wouldn't find rest.
