I've never flown so high, I've never gone so fast.
I never thought I'd have to take a look at my past.
I've never seen the ocean; I've never seen a sea.
I'd have to say, my journeys just beginning.

Don't keep running through life,
without stopping for air.
Don't keep choking on advice,
from those who don't care.
There's much to learn, much I'm not seeing.
That's how I know, it's just the beginning.

I've never climbed a tree; I've never traveled too far.
I've never held my head high, cause I've never tried too hard.
And I've never seen the ocean; I've never seen a sea.
So I'd have to say, my journeys just beginning.

Don't keep running through life,
without stopping for air.
Don't keep choking on advice,
from those who don't care.
There's much to learn, much I'm not seeing.
That's how I know, it's just the beginning.

Take a look back. Give a smile.
Step forward. Start your journey here.
Then what tomorrow brings, will make you sing,
"I have nothing to fear."

Don't keep running through life,
without stopping for air.
Don't keep choking on advice,
from those who don't care.
There's much to learn, much I'm not seeing.
That's how I know, it's just the beginning.
