Take a walk this way,

Listen to the words I have to say,

I don't need this life to try and help me find a better way.

I've found the gold that I've been looking for,

I've found the key that opens every door,

I've found the one who takes the credit for this music we enjoy, yeah.

Don't you know the sun will shine in the promised land?

You could be dancing all the time in the promised land,

Don't you know that you can go to the promised land?

Can't wait for love to show you to the promised land.

Now you've come this far, this love is here to meet you where you are,

You don't need your past,

Take this love; I know it's gonna last.

I've found gold that I've been looking for,

I've found the key that opens every door,

I've found one who takes the credit for this music we enjoy.

Don't you know the sun will shine in the promised land?

You could be dancing all the time in the promised land,

Don't you know that you can go to the promised land?

Can't wait for love to show you to the promised land.

I've found gold that I've been looking for,

I've found the key that opens every door,

I've found one who takes the credit for this music we enjoy, yeah.

Don't you know the sun will shine in the promised land?

You could be dancing all the time in the promised land,

Don't you know that you can go to the promised land?

Can't wait for love to show you to the promised land,

Don't you know the sun will shine in the promised land?

We could be dancing all the time in the promised land,

Don't you know that you can go to the promised land?

Can't wait for love to show you to the promised land,

Don't you know the sun will shine in the promised land?

In the promised land,

Don't you know that you can go to the promised land?

Can't wait for love to show you to the promised land
