Lead us through the light that we are stuck within when our lips seal tight, we are changed from who we've been

I am stuck inside the light will anyone help me?
There's a golden door in sight but too far away to reach when my thoughts breach the walls of mind and soul

I am locked inside to write on a script to tell the world I tried I'm feeling wrong for not being right
All the time the walls they narrow in my sight

I am drawn away from home Don't hold it against me You'd be leaving everything, if your voice was taken from you but you can't ignore It's your life and only yours

I am locked inside to write
on a script to tell the world I tried
I'm feeling wrong for not being right
All the time the walls they narrow in my sight

(Woooh)

I am locked inside to write
on a script to tell the world I tried
I'm feeling wrong for not being right
All the time the walls they narrow in my sight

Oh yeah

I'm feeling wrong for not being right
All the time the walls they narrow in my sight
