I'm sitting at the top of a hill I'm looking at the top of the trees with a horizon in sight The weather's getting cold, and I'm out here alone But I'm staying tonight
'Cause I feel warm outside my home

A fire is burning the bridges we built to prevail the traditional face of the world we can change it for the better stop it with a bucket of water

Now I See
I feel the shame deep down in me
Now I See
I see what I have come to Be Now I finally See

The winter brought the snow on it's own the leaves are hidden under the ground that I'm sitting on Yeah,
I know it 'cause I saw it, I was here all along So I'm staying tonight, 'Cause I'm feeling something is wrong

A fire is burning the bridges we built
to prevail the traditional face of the world
we can change it for the better
stop it with a bucket of water

Now I See
I feel the shame deep down in me
Now I See
I see what I have come to be, yeah
Beyond the human nature, there is hope that's buried deep
I finally See
Now I See

Now I See

Now I See

A fire is burning the bridges we built
to prevail the traditional face of the world
we can change it for the better
stop it with a bucket of water

Now I See

I feel the shame deep down in me

Now I See

I see what I have come to be, yeah

Beyond the human nature,
there is hope that's buried deep

I finally See

Now I See
