

Year Of The Rabbit

"Last Defence"

Visit "Last Defence" on MotoLyrics.com guards have been waiting too long their eyes are getting heavy now I think they've finally fallen asleep

is that someone I hear outside my gate

you know the walls are falling in my head

tonite girl

you know the walls are falling in my head

tonite girl

I'm a headstone waiting for words so just carve my epitaph for me

I can't ignore the songs of the past and wake up screaming from a borrowed dream listening to your eyes speak as the words are falling from my mouth it's a sordid state of belief when your last defense has sold you out for good

you know the walls are falling in my head

tonite girl

you know the walls are falling in my head

tonite girl

you know the walls are falling in my head

tonite girl

you know the walls are falling in my head

tonite tonite tonite tonite

you know the walls are falling in my head

tonite girl

you know the walls are falling in my head

tonite girl

you know the walls are falling in my head

tonite girl

you know the walls are falling in my head

tonite tonite tonite tonite

Visit Year Of The Rabbit page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.