I want to know if it's still possible,
To find a place that's ours.
Maybe there's a world that's still invisible.
A murmur coming from the stars.
Because if it's real,
Then I never noticed.
Hidden by the thoughts that I
Designed, and I,
Was there the entire time.

Don't worry,
I'm much too proud,
To face the lights,
In your eyes.
Crushing stars,
We collide.
What makes us?

I want to know if it's still possible.
Beneath the endless night.
Walking past your window to your bedroom,
but the curtain's holding back the light.

Ohh... If you're home,
I wonder if you'd seen me.
I wonder if I caught your eye.
I wondered if you'd ever notice,
That I was only passing by.

Why should I?
It was the only time
